TELEGRAPHIC. News by Last Evening's Mail.

—In an article elsewhere in our paper this morning, we express the apprehension that Gen. Foster's command at Washington, North Carolina, had been captured. This article is based upon the statements which were current relative to his critical situation; but we have since received the intelligence that on the 14th he was relieved by a steamer loaded with provisions, and having on board a regiment of troops, which had run the blockade on Tar river.

—A dispatch from Charleston, dated the 10th inst., and published in the Richmond Sentinel, mentions the departure, on that day, of our entire iron-clad fleet southward. It was believed in Charleston that it would return to renew the attack. There must be some mistake about the date of the Charleston dispatch, as we have already published advice from Union sources to the effect that the iron-clads had not left Charleston harbor.

—The Legislature of Delaware has passed a law defining negroes for attending political meetings or for carrying firearms; forbidding negroes to preach; or any negro who leaves the State for five days to return under a penalty of fifty dollars fine, or slavery if the fine is not paid. There are 1,758 slaves in Delaware and 110,418 free inhabitants.

—A special dispatch from Columbus, Ohio, to the Cincinnati Commercial of yesterday, states that General J. D. Cox, has been assigned to the command of the military district of Ohio. His headquarters are to be in Cincinnati. It is also stated that Gen. Barnside is to take the field.

—From the Murfreesboro, Tenn., correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writing on the 14th inst., we learn that Major General Stanley had, on that day, returned from Franklin, whither he had been in pursuit of Van Dorn. The enemy had fallen back to the rear of Spring Hill, where they took up a strong position that originally held by the rebels. The rebel loss in the affair was severe—three hundred killed and wounded, including some valuable officers. Another brigade of cavalry would have enabled Stanley to cut Van Dorn to pieces.

—Scouts report that the enemy at Shelbyville exhibited great activity in fortifying, last Saturday, evidently anticipating an advance from this point. It seems to be decided that they are determined to resist our further advance, in order to save their Tennessee troops, who would determine to desert if Bragg moves to the rear of Tennessee.

—Charles Parsons of a late date, in a review of the recent naval attack, states the casualties at Fort Moultrie one man was killed by falling from the flagstaff. One gun in Fort Sumter was dismounted, and one shot passed through the flag which floated from its battlements. On Sullivan's Island two houses were struck, one of which was demolished. At Battery Magruder six artillerymen were wounded, four mortally and two slightly.

—The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday admits that the great army of the West lies useless on the Mississippi, and thinks that the great shock of the war is to occur in Tennessee. It says that it is not pretended that Grant has made any progress or any intelligent effort toward the capture of Vicksburg. No one expects that he will. Nor have his operations sufficient means to enable a great re-advance at Vicksburg. We have every reason to expect their concentration there. With the army of Grant united to Rosecrans, he would be irresistible. But with the greater army wasting uselessly in the swamps about Vicksburg, we not only have no reason to expect progress anywhere, but we have grounds for apprehension.

—There is a great probability that the late disaster at Charleston will at once complicate our relations with Great Britain. It is known that Secretary Seward has assumed a belligerent tone in his recent dispatches, and that Palmerston and Russell are in no temper to be bullied. They are, indeed, as they have always been, too ready for war, and the moment the English people can be sufficiently irritated to sustain an Administration that ventures on it, will assume a new tone with us. The recent speeches of the Solicitor-General in the House of Commons, and the unanimity to a growing hostile feeling, which the government hopes to plant itself firmly enough to make an open quarrel possible. There has been nothing like it before, and our relations are believed to be, at this moment, more critical than even pending the Trent case. Of course a rupture at Charleston, the blockade of which has been a fruitful source of diplomatic controversy, and must now be enforced with greater vigor than ever, will do much to encourage the Anglo-rebel party, of which the chief officers of the English government are the leaders.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Thursday afternoon Mr. Chittenden, an elderly gentleman, residing in the north-eastern part of Indianapolis, was driving in a wagon with his wife and daughter, on the Fall Creek road, about four miles out, when the horse started at a passing train and became unmanageable. The family was thrown out and Mr. Chittenden was instantly killed, the wagon passing over his breast and head. His wife and daughter had their wrists broken and their ankles sprained. The young lady escaped without injury.

Col. Kimball, who was killed by Gen. Crook, was a brother of B. H. Kimball, Esq., of Rock Island. He was Captain of the only company raised in Vermont for the Mexican war, and served with distinction, being promoted to Major for gallantry and bravery at Chapultepec, and killed at the battle of Puebla, and he was the first to enter the city and hoisted the Mexican flag. After the war he was employed for some time on the New York Herald, and afterwards held an office in the New York Customhouse.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—At about one o'clock Thursday afternoon, a man named John Morgan, who lives in Cincinnati, was run over by a passenger train on the Cincinnati and Indianapolis railroad. The unfortunate man had been down the river to the scene of the demolition of the stonemason Prior, and it was while walking along the track, when the train was backing up, run over and killed him.

CINCINNATI EQUIRER SUPPRESSED IN LEXINGTON.—We learn that an order was issued in Lexington yesterday, by Gen. Wilcox, suppressing the Cincinnati Enquirer in that city. He had all the Enquirers thrown out of the mails in the postoffice, and forbade the circulation of them hereafter in the city.

CONTRACTS.—Contracts were awarded in Washington on the 10th, for 3,000 tons of bituminous coal, at five dollars and a half; sixteen bids were received for 3,000 head of cattle, at from $64 to $65. No contracts were awarded, the bids being too high.

General Grant remarked, on Sunday morning, that Gen. Steele had destroyed half a million barrels of corn and immense quantities of bacon. This being so, the rebels cannot be so near starved out as we suppose.

Twelve guerrillas were in Whitesville, in Henderson county, on Saturday last. After being taken and ammunition they could find, they left without further molestation.

The house of Mr. Ridd, two miles from Owensboro, was destroyed by fire last Thursday afternoon. With the exception of a few articles, the furniture was saved.
